Summary Comments

It was made clear that COVID accounts from some of the lackluster assessment results. In some cases what is being listed as the Methods of Assessment is actually what is being judged and not the tool itself. While the Measure and Number of students Assessed section often included types of projects and/ or exams that were given to judge proficiencies sometimes it was merely stated as coursework...which can be anything. Being clear about the specific tools used to assess outcomes might make it easier to not only reflect but to make adjustments in the future if performances continue to loose traction.
