

WHAT'S NEW IN CIDT?

We have some exciting news! Starting in early December, CIDT began the remodeling process of our office rooms, and we're finally finished! All of R317 is now one room. SIDE, CIDT, and our dedicated media team can all be accessed through the door for R317B.

Along with these structural changes, CIDT has made some policy changes as well! Located on our walk-in desk, we now ask that instructors and students sign-in with their questions. This helps us keep track of who comes to see us, and develop our methods to better serve you in the future.

Teaching a SIDE (formerly IETV) course? We have fully upgraded R315 and converted M224 to SIDE rooms to improve your experience! We can also facilitate SIDE courses in R318, R314, and R100. Each SIDE course has also been provided with two technical support assistants: SIDEkicks!

In the coming weeks, CIDT will be holding an Open House for faculty and students. If you're interested in our new design, feel free to stop by!

SCREEN READERS

Whether your students learn best by listening, or just love to multi-task, screen reader technology can make important course materials accessible for everyone. Click on the links below to learn more about how to set up this helpful tool!

#MYDURANT

On January 15th, Southeastern proudly hosted the cast and crew of the Hulu special: "Small Business Revolution!" SE students showed their support by wearing #MyDurant t-shirts, running food and event booths, and cheering for the lovely producers: Amanda Brinkman and Robert Herjavec. We look forward to the announcement of the Top 5 Small Towns in February, and hope to be selected for the show!
