

Native Legacies in the Twenty-First Century

Proceedings of the Thirteenth Native American Symposium

Southeastern Oklahoma State University

Edited by Matthew J. Sparacio

Native Legacies in the Twenty- First Century

Proceedings of the Thirteenth Native American Symposium
November 1, 2019

Edited by Matthew J. Sparacio

Southeastern Oklahoma State University

2020

All rights reserved

Native American Symposium
Department of Social Sciences
Classroom Building 143
Southeastern Oklahoma State University
425 W University Blvd
Durant, Oklahoma 74701
msparacio@se.edu

ISBN # 978-0-9763852-0-2

The cover painting entitled “Long Journey, Many Tears” is by Jane Semple Umsted. The original is on display in the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma’s Capitol Museum in Tvshka Homma, Oklahoma.

Table of Contents

Introduction Matthew J. Sparacio	5
Storytelling as Revolt Emily Angell	8
Traditional Ecological Knowledge and the Ranking of Knowledge B. Steve Csaki	15
Good and Evil in Native American Mythology Oksana Y. Danchevskaya	23
Mechica: Indigenous Origin of the Chicano Hybrid Identity Rolando Diaz	29
Deconstructing Turok: The Kiowa Dinosaur Hunter in Comics and Film (1954-2014) Marc DiPaolo	38
Creating Change: Supporting Native-American Student Veterans At the University and in the First-Year Composition Classroom Amy Madewell and Tara Hembrough	47
Cowboy, 'Indian', Rider: Deconstructing Dichotomous Stereotypes in The Rider Jennifer McMahan	57
The Violence Has Never Stopped: Police Murders and Mistreatment Of Indigenous Peoples in the Twenty-First Century David Michael Smith	65
Exporting the White Saviour: The Colonial Textual Influence On Canadian/Indigenous Relationships Samantha Stevens	81
The Red and Green 'Problem' Peoples: Shared Cross Cultural Affinity of Native Americans and Irish Mike Taylor	93